

QUALITY CIRCLES

Quality circles are groups of students who meet regularly to identify, analyse and solve problems related to their surroundings. Small in size, the groups present solutions for the identified problems to the management; where possible, they themselves implement the solutions in order to bring about a positive change.

The basic principle on which student quality circles work is Total Quality Management, which consists of organisation-wide efforts to make an atmosphere where students continuously improve.

- Requires 2 hours of commitment per week.
