Picture a talkative soul who might misplace her glasses while wearing them, proving that intelligence and quirks can coexist. Despite any initial impression of intimidation, I'm always eager to engage in discussions spanning from the economic crisis to the latest celebrity drama. My confidence may surprise you, but my boundless energy can be contagious, motivating those around me and you can count on me as your go-to source for motivation or a listening ear. I live by the belief that action bridges the gap between dreams and reality. As a leader, explorer, and firm believer, you'll find me cheering for RCB and proudly calling myself a Directioner.

When it comes to describing myself, I always try not to sound pompous. An extrovert by nature, my attitude towards meeting new people helps me understand different perspectives and develop an open and accepting mindset through which I can empathise with and connect with individuals. You can often see me watching Novak Djokovic play or randomly pondering in my leisure time. When I am by myself, the words in my mind are expressed on a piece of paper or on my notes app. For me, there is an ineffable sense of joy in jamming to music. Other topics that I love delving into are mythology, geopolitics, and human behaviour. Ultimately, I am an individual who is simple and complex at the same time, sometimes funny, but very affectionate by nature.

Any person who meets me can describe me as bursting with intoxicating happy energy, laughing to herself at her own inside jokes, and being extremely nostalgic. Mostly, you can find me either smiling or arguing extensively on topics of geopolitics and international relations. I am the person you can easily talk to without thinking twice. I am an avid reader, a leaving-series-in-the-middle kind of watcher, a big overall sports enthusiast, and an always-listening-to-music kind of girl. Nothing makes me happier than screaming lyrics at the top of my lungs with my people and making sensational memories I treasure forever. Peg me as someone who is a leader, confident, understanding, jovial, sensitive, bold, unhinged, yet rational all at once.

When tasked with describing myself, my mind mirrors the tangled confusion on the screen before me in painting a socially acceptable picture of my personality. I am an ambivert who, when comfortable, can continue conversations for hours, though my animated expressions and enthusiastic ramblings take centre stage—especially when discussing books, poetry, feminism, or my favourite TV shows. So, in the tapestry of my personality, you will find a curious and empathetic soul with a penchant for meaningful conversations, a lover of literature, an unabashed fan of the small screen, and, of course, a daily user of sarcastic comments that nobody understands.

Describing myself is something that has troubled me since the very beginning of this introduction (gotcha). I'm a fun-loving football enthusiast with zero stage fright who is 24/7 ready to walk on stage with nothing prepared. Although I am eternally ready to engage in intellectual debates and dialogue, don't be dazed to find me having 'Messi vs. Ronaldo' arguments (it's Messi, and it's not even close). The epitome of how hard work and procrastination aren't mutually exclusive, I believe it's never too late to be the person you aspire to be. As an emotional soul, I cherish the ones close to me. A born leader with an undying fascination for geopolitics, sports, space, music, fashion, and nature, you can find me watching the sunset for the billionth time before it gets boring.

It is very simple to understand and know me as a person who took PCM just so that I could study 12th Physics, and yes, I could've studied it externally, but I'm too excellent in the art of procrastination to do it. I have been known to devour books on a weekly, if not even daily, basis. Not an hour goes by in my life without listening to music, even in school, thanks to my weird memory, which remembers everything from vocals to background music. I am the one who encourages and motivates all, even in the most grim circumstances.

I am a fun-loving person with a non-conformist attitude. I am a true foodie at heart and love exploring new restaurants and trying new cuisines. Adventure is always calling for me, and I never hesitate to answer. I love experiencing new things, whether it's bungee jumping or travelling. As a Bollywood fan, I enjoy singing and dancing to the latest hits and classic tunes. I believe in living life to the fullest and making every moment count. For me, life is all about creating memories and cherishing the moments we have with the people we love.

I am an ambivert who always wants to try new things. Fearless but cautious, confident but not overconfident, trustworthy and honest, yet at the same time loved by everyone, are some of the qualities that describe me. I always like to challenge myself and my abilities and force myself into difficult waters to learn to move, to become stronger, and to always grow. Respect is a quality that is always associated with me, and I never disappoint in this regard, whether I win or lose.

An avid dancer from the age of 9, I have always looked towards life in an artistic way. I am a foodie and an ambivert who can talk for hours. I have always been keen to travel to different places, explore new cultures and find out more about the lifestyles of people living in various cities. Being an adventure enthusiast, I love hiking and finding bliss amidst nature.

I was once a delicate bud living in my own space, never expecting to be a student leader. But here I am, accepting the point that leaders are not always born, they can be made if they have persistence and dedication. I truly represent the school motto, "Let every bud bloom". I am an aspiring artist with a keen interest in pencil sketching and oil pastel painting. Classical dance is my passion. I am generous, creative, and can make anything tasty—just give me cheese! I am a hardworking individual who isn't afraid to face challenges. I am passionate about my work and know how to get it done.

It was 2 in the morning when a 7-year-old girl woke up and realized that she had not finished her homework. So she sat there at this absurd time to complete it. This little girl is me - sincere, dedicated and hardworking. I would describe myself as a simple girl who loves food , cracking jokes that make people laugh and groan at the same time, expressing herself through music and movement and teaching young kids around her. Despite my high ambitions, I strive to stay grounded and at the end of the day , I just need a good book and a cup of coffee to unwind myself.

I joined basketball on a whim in 4th standard and what a ride it has been! Finally, I am confident enough to say that I have set a precedent for those who'll be here after me that they can score good marks in 11th and still be known as the captain of the MP Team. I'll let you in on a secret- I played most of my Nationals in 11th itself and if I can, I see no reason as to why anyone cannot. Determination commands your talents unknown. Any CSK fans out there because of Dhoni? I feel you. I would love to help you out with anything, anytime you need me. Looking forward to knowing all of you!

I am a PCM with Entrepreneurship student and a passionate national-level basketball player. I believe everyone must have a hobby apart from studies to revive their mind and make them feel good. Other than that, you can casually catch me vibing to music and munching. I strongly believe consistency and time management are the keys to maintaining balance in every sphere of life. I am an introvert, but you can always find me eager to help you out. You can surely approach me without hesitating for any help regarding academics, extracurriculars, or simply a boost of motivation.

Empathy, compassion, and honesty are the words I live by. I am a national badminton player. I think balance is the way to live just like the way I manage sports and academics. I am an extrovert who loves to listen to the stories of people around the world. As a hardworking leader, kindness should be a quality you exhibit to keep your team together, and I think I am a person who feels for others. I am a blended package of adventure and sophistication. I am open to criticism and improvement. I would love to know you all personally, so don't hesitate to contact me.

Ever since I was a kid, I found the colours around me in the world to be very dull. Then onwards, I resorted to viewing the world through a colourful glass, or a mosaic, to say, adding brightness and shine to my surroundings, always questioning and reasoning everything, thinking that everything you come across has a separate story you have to discover. That made me a poet at heart. I love to write, read and sing. I am a people person and easily approachable, but I can switch to my strong leadership skills just as quickly. I indulge in debating as well as public speaking. I hope that all my fellow peers step out of their comfort zone and take a hold of the colourful glass too and shine like the brightest star they have ever seen.

If you ever stumble upon a sarcastic introvert who calls herself a javaphile (but wouldn't know the difference between a cappuccino and a latte if you quizzed her), you can say she 'pulled a Bheeni'. As someone who identifies as a Swiftie, I can proudly confirm that my wildest dreams consist of me petting a cat named Karma, with my headphones plugged into an indie playlist. Being a Commerce student juggling Applied Mathematics and Entrepreneurship, I reserve a special place in my heart for journalism, painting, singing, travelling, playing badminton, and of course, correcting everyone's grammar.

If "the wrong place at the wrong time" were a person, that'd be me. Graceful is not a word you'd find in my description. I navigate through life with uncountable missteps and a symphony of clumsy moments that seem to follow me wherever I go. Amidst the chaotic dance that is life, there are two constants that have shaped my existence: an insatiable love for reading and an unwavering adoration for the enchanting melodies of Taylor Swift. If you ever need someone to guess Taylor Swift songs in 1 second, I'm your person. In all seriousness, I consider myself approachable, amiable, and will always be ready to help in any way I can.

My parents always wanted me to become an engineer. At the age of 13, I was determined to become one. Maybe not the traditional type who built vast structures using complex mathematics and science, but one who built the world using words. In simpler terms, I would say I'm just an ordinary girl with an undying love for literature and language. I take great pride in being a self-taught polyglot and writer, but my greatest strength remains my persistence to continue learning. Other than that, I have a keen interest in psychology, history, and, of course, music.

I am an ambivert who can make things happen using my communication skills. I can initiate a conversation with almost anyone and can understand the person I am talking to. I am calm, even under pressure (eg. in a tennis match). I am able to find quick and easy solutions to difficult problems, thanks to my logical, and analytical skills. I am enthusiastic, encouraging and motivate my fellow students to take interest in sports. I am also disciplined, cooperative and responsible.

I am someone who gives out massive golden retriever energy, someone who loves music from listening to singing to writing, I can go from Adele to Talha Anjum to Moosewala in fractions of seconds. I'm an animal activist and a social worker. Because of my fauji background and constant moving, I have always been good with people. I love to lift heavy circles, have a whole separate folder for memes, and can binge-watch Adam Sandler and Tom Cruise films anytime. Overall I am kind, easy to talk with, humourous, ambitious, confident, and I wheeze and snort while I laugh.

Driven, organized and honest are some words out of my dictionary which can describe me in a short and crisp manner. Guitar, cooking and gymnasium are my key interests and I can talk about them endlessly. Although I am very shy and quiet, I can become as talkative as a parrot where my interest lies. I am like the pentatonic scales, once you get to know me you definitely would not want to leave me.

I embody the ENTJ personality type and have a natural inclination towards strategic planning and a growth-driven mindset. My keen interest lies in business, finance, and economics. I'm like a non-stop jukebox with my close friends, constantly spinning tunes about my accurate prediction and profitable trades and investments. They're probably considering investing in earplugs by now! My idea of a perfect day involves being productive, without succumbing to the distractions of social media. I have a unique sense of humor, with a penchant for dark, intellectual jokes that touch upon serious and controversial topics. I possess a profound interest for the art of patisserie, and I aspire to establish my own pastry shop and become a successful businesswoman in the future. I find great joy in meeting new people and making friends. As a child, I was drawn to Bollywood music, and to this day, I cannot resist moving to its infectious beats. During my leisure time, I typically explore new food joints, taste novel dishes, or peruse videos featuring innovative recipes. As an ambivert, I adapt my demeanor to fit different social settings. I am always ready for a journey. My sense of humor tends to elicit strong responses; people either adore it or disdain it. I firmly believe that everything is predestined, and that all that occurs, happens for a purpose. Going with the flow is my mantra for life.

I am a keen sportsperson, with my hobbies including playing squash and cricket. In the summer, I like to swim too. I am a national level squash player. With all my sports hobbies, I have never compromised my studies. I think one of my greatest skills is time management. In my free time, you would find me listening to songs. For someone who looks a lot more serious than she actually is, I consider myself an ambivert. A passionate Kathak dancer for 11 years now, my hobbies include art, writing, playing badminton, and grooving to the beats of Bollywood music. I thoroughly enjoy engaging in conversations with people and would never miss an opportunity to learn something new. Compassionate, ambitious, and amiable can pretty much sum up my personality. As a leader, I promise to always put my best foot forward and fulfil this responsibility with my utmost sincerity.

I speak softly, but strongly. Coming from another school, I was often thought of as shy and timid. But, with the assistance and guidance of my friends, I was able to come out of that shell. Since I joined the school, I have taken a keen interest in Indian music. My MUN journey started a little over a year ago, and since then I've not been able to get enough of it. I play badminton as a hobby, and I am constantly trying to get better at it. I like to expand my horizons, take up new things, meet new people, and understand their perspectives. My ambitions might be limitless, but at the end of the day, the most important thing that matters is the happiness of an individual. I hope to meet and cooperate with you so that our house always puts its best foot forward.

I vividly remember the day I started admiring the blue shirt and the shiny batch in 3rd grade, when a few seniors came to our class to conduct some surveys for student welfare. Three years later, I realised that it was a big responsibility to wear that shirt, but that 8-year-old girl's wish was what kept me going. Here I am feeling a little proud of myself. I am a very friendly person; feel free to talk to me if you have any issues regarding anything. If we ever get into a position of awkward silence, just sprinkle in a conversation of kathak, art, public speaking, or even songs or movies.

Ernest Hemingway said, "There is nothing noble in being superior to your fellow men; true nobility is being superior to your former self." I think I felt it deeply because I may come across as one of the first hands to be raised and the last ones to leave the room, but in truth I am simply another bud trying to bloom, just someone trying to be 'saksham' in what I pursue. If I had five words, I would have written, "In it to win it." From the little pink shirt to the white one, it had always been a dream to wear a badge with the honour of my house. Being a passionate public speaker for the past 9 years, a keen MUNer for 5, and a self-proclaimed writer and poet for 4, I now wish to try and return the efforts of my school, teachers, housemates, and seniors in every way I can!

When I am not reading, I love to draw, write, play badminton, swim, listen to Taylor Swift, photograph the sky, and debate social issues and books with my quick-witted friends. I thoroughly enjoy the art of public speaking. Apart from being a bibliophile, I am what people call an ambitious, amiable and a creative, soul. As a leader, I solemnly swear to do my best and inspire everyone around me to do the same.

As a swimmer, I glide through the water like a graceful dolphin, each stroke propelling me forward with power and precision. I am a Merman of the pool. As I swim, my mind clears and I am at peace in the watery realm. I am disciplined, focused, and driven, pushing myself to new limits with each lap. Every breath is a renewal, every lap a triumph. When I swim, I feel free. Along with swimming, I am interested in football, dancing and also playing the piano. I enjoy learning new things and indulging myself in a variety of new skillsets.

“If you want to shine like a sun, first burn like a sun.” - A. P. J. Abdul Kalam. I am passionate about work, ambitious, sensitive towards people and a team player; this is how I would like to describe myself. Highly inspired by the life of the great leader Shri APJ Kalam, I am a person who gives equal importance to logic and emotions. Bridging sports and academics, I enjoy the best of both worlds. I am sure we will have many exciting activities this year. Let us make this year memorable. I would be overjoyed to support people in striking the perfect balance between sports and academics.

Someone who expresses herself creatively, someone who tickles the ivories and someone who is a shuttler from a very young age. That's me, Ummehani Malik for all of you! It gives me an adrenalin rush to challenge myself to step out of my comfort zone. I'm a people's person and playing sports has ingrained the values of hard work, resilience and determination in me. I'm excited to be a part of the team and I believe that together, we can make a positive difference in our school community.

"Success is not final, failure is not fatal: it is the courage to continue that counts." This quote by Winston Churchill is my mantra in life. As a dedicated coder, I hope to use my skills to create technological solutions to real-world problems. I am also passionate about entrepreneurship and aspire to start my own tech company one day. I am committed to using my skills, passion, and creativity to bring new ideas and initiatives to our school community. I believe in leading with integrity, teamwork, and enthusiasm. Together, let's make Kalam House the best it can be, and strive to make a positive impact on our school and the world.

Optimistic, ambitious and detail-oriented are some of the qualities I possess. I prioritize the things I am passionate about, like playing the piano, sketching, and journaling. Abraham Lincoln inspires me to keep challenging myself and never letting anything stop me from achieving my goals in life no matter what difficulties come my way. As a person who believes in the power of goodwill, I'll always be there if you ever need help. I am at my happiest when I am around the people I care about. I believe we all have something to learn from one another and I cannot express how grateful I am for getting this wonderful opportunity.

I am a happy go lucky person with a zeal to learn and explore new things. Spending time with my family and friends is what I love. Playing instruments like Congo, Guitar and Piano is what I do in my free time. My sister is my idol and I enjoy spending time with her, listening to her stories and learning new things from her. I relish travelling and believe that hard work in the right direction, with enthusiasm and a positive attitude brings one nearer to their goal.

I am a basketball player by passion and I brought glory to the school by representing team Indore in two State level tournaments during the academic session 2022 - 2023. I love working with clay and cooking. I am a cheerful person and love socializing and cracking jokes with my friends. Traveling and exploring new places is my passion. Inquisitive and loving by temperament, I enjoy spending time with my family and have a caring attitude toward each member of my family.

I am independent and determined about what I want in life. I constantly set goals for myself, so that I have something to strive for. I am always looking for an opportunity to do better and achieve greatness. My passion is swimming and I have achieved many feats in it. My hobbies are reading and sketching. I am attentive, hardworking and reliable. I am also energetic and like to mingle with friends. I also enjoy spending time with my family.

I absolutely love talking, making me your go-to person if you want to chit-chat. I'm a die-hard fan of The Mentalist, the biggest movie geek, and a fan of all sorts of music. And yes, the senior captain of the Lata Mangeshkar house officially holds the title for the worst singer ever (basically, she can't sing, but she does). I'm an ambivert who is often found in places where she is not supposed to be. I also like to write when the weather feels like a poem. I am clear about my goals, and most things don't hamper my functionality.

Ever since I was a kid, I've made it my goal to always win. I work hard until I taste that sweet fruit of victory. I find joy in doing my work and enjoy a hectic schedule. I am a jolly person who loves his friends and family and always keeps them close. I am a music enthusiast, and I can't get my work done if there is no music playing in the background. I love taking up new opportunities and helping others.

A compassionate heart, a curious mind, an avid reader, a go-getter by spirit, and a person to accept each day at a time is how I have been groomed and nurtured by my family and educators at Shishukunj. I take it upon myself to make sure that together we not just aspire but cherish work every single day to ensure that our house becomes the best place to be. I am approachable and a keen listener, willing to experiment with creative new ideas to change the status quo in anything. I aspire to be the catalyst and change agent for everything to make a positive impact.

I'd say I'm a highly energetic person who is slowly learning to channel his energy in the correct direction. I was not a very bright student from the very beginning, but it is the result of my hard work and dedication that made me capable enough to be on this post today and a learner who is willing to learn more as each day passes. Being a very cheerful and approachable person, I believe that I can motivate the students who think they are not capable enough because, believe me, I've been in that phase and know exactly what is to be done.

I am an ambitious person who likes to be the best at everything she does. I am a national-level table tennis player who also loves to paint and sketch. To some, I might seem to be a serious person, but those close to me know that I am fun-loving. I like to participate in extracurricular activities, and I always try to ensure that all the people enjoy working with me. You can always approach me for any help you need or to have a chat about anything random!

As an introvert, I've always believed in thinking and actually working rather than just speaking. Though I'm not too good with people, I'm always ready to help anyone and everyone. I've been playing chess for the last 11 years, which has provided me with an understanding of how important failure is. I have been captaining the school chess team for the past 2 years, which has helped me develop my leadership skills, due to which I think I can motivate my fellow housemates and make them understand that failure is just a speed breaker on the long path of life.

We all have different personalities, opinions, routines, skills, and interests, and each one of us would define ourselves differently. I like to depict myself as a passionate, devoted, and hard-working person. I have a passion for drawing, which allows me to unleash my imagination. Apart from that, one of my most prominent pursuits is reading, with my favourite genre being fantasy. I also find pleasure in socialising and making new friends. I deeply regard our interests as what permits us to connect with others and experience a feeling of fulfilment.

As an inquisitive and curious person, I am constantly seeking to broaden my horizons. From a young age, I developed a keen interest in programming, which has helped me think critically and develop critical problem-solving skills. I have a penchant for political geography that drives me to learn about every country, their flags, and the relations between them; all-in-all enabling me to understand decision-making, leadership, and diplomacy. I am committed to maximising this opportunity by developing my personality to the fullest. Overall, I see myself as an enthusiastic student who is always approachable.

I look forward to this year as I enjoy new experiences and also because I believe that working as a team is better than working alone. I like adventure and travel, as well as art, sketching, and sports. In short, I like taking on challenges and experimenting with everything from science to painting. I am someone who likes to work hard on every project and tries her best to make her work memorable. I am patient by temperament and enjoy working with people.

I firmly believe that the future belongs to those who prepare for it today. I am an avid reader and books are my portal to utopia. Apart from books, I like programming as it stimulates my mind, astronomy as I am curious to know about the unknown and history because it is like a large story waiting to be discovered. On the sports front, I love tennis and have been playing it for about two years. I also like chess and swimming. Responsibility, integrity and teamwork are my strongest suits.

I am a polite and soft-spoken person with a love for exploring. Time management is one of my strongest skills, for I'm a sportsperson juggling sports and academics. I am good at making friends and find joy in meeting new people. I love reading books and watching movies. I also love to dance. Moreover, I would consider myself extremely persistent, as I do not give up easily and work hard to achieve all my goals.

I believe in teamwork, which is very important in every sport. Since I've been into sports for the past eight years, I've learned to balance both academics and sports. I have a keen interest in automobiles, technology, sports and current affairs. I'm also a tabla player and have been learning the instrument since I was four years old. I believe that I have good leadership qualities, and I never refrain from helping anyone and everyone out.
