As a part of the CBSE initiative to raise awareness about the risks of excessive sugar intake, The Shishukunj International School organised a series of activities and events. There was an in-class orientation, where teachers used a specially designed PowerPoint presentation to explain the term added sugar. The students were made aware of the amount of added sugar that children can have in a day, this was contrasted with the high amounts of added sugar in common sweet snack items and packaged fruit and soft drinks. The harmful effects of excessive sugar intake- obesity, type II diabetes and tooth decay were outlined. To reinforce these concepts, 'Sugar Awareness Boards' were displayed in corridors and classrooms, highlighting sugar content in common sweet snacks like cookies and packaged drinks and suggesting healthier alternatives.

Students also participated in a Hindi Nukkad Natak (street play) that creatively conveyed the dangers of excessive sugar intake and encouraged mindful eating. The performance was engaging and left a strong impact on the young audience.

To extend the effort into the children's homes and involve the parent community, the school invited parents to contribute healthy snack recipes that could be used as a replacement for sugary drinks and snacks.
